YONKERS.

Department Commander John C. Shotts, of Yonkers, returned yesterday from a trip to the western part of the State. He left Yonkers on Wednesday morning and arrived at Ithaca the following orning. Colonel John Barnard, president of the Cayuga County Veterans' Association, met him at the train and escorted him in a steamer especially chartered for the purpose to Glenwood, a beautiful spot on the Cayuga Lake, about five miles from the city, where the Grand Army of Tompkins, Cort-land, Seneca and Cayuga counties were holding their reunion. There he was welcomed by a thousand veterans and spoke. Friday was spent at Bonnie Castle, at Great Sodus Bay. Here the veterans of Wayne County were holding their annual encampment of a week. Colonel Anson S. Wood, president of the Veterans' Association the county, met the Commander. During the day Commander Shotts addressed the 2,000 veterans Addresses were also made by Adjutant-General McCormic, Senator Saxton, Judge Hoag and Chaplain Gaffney. The Commander, on his return, expressed himself as well pleased with the enthusiasm shown by the Grand Army men in their organization. . . Charles E. Gorton, superintendent of the public schools of the city, has returned with his family from North Brookfield, where he spent the month of August. Comoner George B. Wray, of the Board of Health, left the city yesterday for Shelter Island with his family. . . . On Friday evening the worsted mill and the moquette spining mill of the Alexander Smith & Son's Carpet Company shut down. The reason given by the officers of the company for this action is the uncertainty as to the con-struction of the wool schedule under the Tariff bill now awaiting the President's signature. Until the Secretary of the Treasury shall make a ruling secretary of the Treasury shall make a ruling on this clause the company feel delicate about taking wool from bond. After serving the city faithfully for nearly seven months, Dr. Samuel Swift, who was engaged by the Board of Health in Feoruary to do certain work for that board, is in a fair way to get his bills through the Common Council. A special meeting of the Committee of the Whole of the Common Council was held Friday night at Manor Hall. Mayor Peene presided, and Dr. Valentine Browne, president of the Health Board, with Commissioners Wray, Treanor and Laily appeared before them, and explained that the services of Dr. Swift had been necessary to prevent disease from getting a foothold in the city. He had done much work in the tenement district which otherwise would not have been done, and his services had been of much value to the board. The City Attorney advised the Aldermen that as the Board of Health had decided that Dr. Swift's services were necessary, the city was bound to pay him. On motion of Alderman Sutherland the bills were recommended for payment, and will be so reported at the next meeting. They aggregate to be identified. He was found wandering on New-Main-st. Friday by Patrolman John T. Redding. He can give no account of himself, except that he came from where there was a farm. He is quite imbecile. The police think he has wandered from some institution. He is short in stature, has gray hair and whiskers and speaks no English. He is dressed in a black frock diagonal coat, dark striped trousers, brown striped waistcoat and wore laced shoes. . The third race in the Palisade Boat Club's four-oared handicap shell races was rowed Friday evening one mile off the clubhouse. The crews were: Columbia—E. R. Coles, bow; J. E. Humason, W. H. Carpenter, George E. Bechet, Brock, other crew of the Columbia had a handleap of eight seconds, and the crew of the Otto, catching a crab when the race was half over, allowed them to win easily in thirty-three seconds. The next race will be on Labor Day. . The Excels on this clause the company feel delicate about

WHITE PLAINS.

The plaintive cries of an infant outside the house of Gabriel Purdy, a prosperous farmer, living in North-st., White Plains, aroused the family on Friday evening Miss Ella Purdy, the principal of the public school in District No. 2, alarmed her father. The noise appeared to come from the front ouse, which sets back some distance from to investigate the family peered out into the dark-As the bright light flashed across the green swarth two lusty walls flashed across the green swarth two lusty walls were heard. They plainly came from beneath a tall locust tree near the roadway. Approaching the spot, Mr. Purdy was amazed to find two babes, apparently twins, lying side by side upon the ground. Calling the women of the family to his side, the babes were taken into the house. In the bright light the infants did not appear to be over six months old. They were made comfortable until vesterday morning, when they were sent to the County Almshouse by the Overseers of the Poor. No clew has thus far been obtained as to where they cam's from. It is thought that a needy mother, crazed with want, deposited the babes where they were found under the impression that she was at the Westchester Temporary Home for Indigent Children, which is in the same thoroughfare, a mile nearer White Plains village. ... Joseph Brower, a teamster working on the new Cornell dam at Croton, went into the kitchen of Mrs. Mulholland's boarding-house at 4:40 yesterday morning, where he boarded, and demanded his breakfast. Edward Dwyer, the cook, undertook to get it for him, but it being such an early hour it was necessary for Brower to wait until it could be prepared. The waiting was not to Brower's fancy, he grew impatient, began abusing the cook and finally struck him with his fist. Brower is a large, powerful man, and was somewhat under the influence of liquor. The cook is about twenty-two years old, and small, and in a fight would be no match for the teamster. Dwyer, the cook, was cutting bread with a large carving-knife when Brower assaulied him, and turning quickly on Brower, struck him a blow with the knife, the point of which entered Brower's right breast, puncturing the lung and making a severe wound that may prove fatal. Dr. Byington dressed the wound, and Brower was sent to the hospital. Dwyer escaped, and on his arrival at Sing Sing saw Father Smith, and was advised by the priest to give himself up. He surrendered himself to Officer Irwin, who in turn gave him over to an officer at Croton-on-Hudson, where he was locked up. On examination before Justice Oely, Dwyer was committed to White Plains to await the action of the Grand Jury. When Mr. Bulger went into his parlor Friday evening he found McGlown sitting in a Friday evening he found McGlown sitting in a chair with his feet on the table, smoking a cigarette. Bulger asked him what he was doing there, but McGlown, instead of replying, drew a knife and attempted to stab Bulger. The two men ran around the room, but finally Bulger, getting an opportunity, sprang on McGlown and then sent for a pollecman. Pollecman Siller responded to Bulger's call, and locked McGlown up. In court McGlown said he was intoxicated, and did not know what he was doing. He said that he had no intention to rob Mr. Bulger's house. Judge Lockwood held him for trial.

NEWARK. Great preparations have been made for the celebration to-day of the thirty-fifth anniversary of the Arion Singing Society of Newark, which will take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon in Caledonian Park. In addition to the Arion, which is one of the best-known musical associations in the State, there will take part in the festival the Eintracht, Harmonte, Phoenix, Liberty, Aurora and Casino so-cleties, the Schwaebischer Saengerbund, the Orange Maennerchor, of Orange, and the Ferdinand Lei-boldt Band. The festival conductor and the comductor of the Arion will be Max Spicker, of New-York, the well-known composer and conductor, which is a guarantee of the excellence of the en tertainment. Max Spicker's music and composition are not only popular in this country, but also in Europe. At the recent great Bundes-Saengerfest, held at the Madison Square Garden, in New-York, from June 21 to June 26, no song pleased more of was more generously applauded than Max Spicker's "Die Tage der Rosen." Those who heard the en-thusiasm with which the beautiful melody was received then will be glad to know that it will be sung at the festival to-day. Another feature of the festival will be Max Spicker's "Im Grase Thauts," which will be given by the Arion. This song was the favorite on the programme of the New-York Arion on its tour of Europe two years ago, and was the only one which was encored in every place. When the Arion returned to New-York the society, in recognition of its appreciation, gave Mr. Spicker a gold watch inscribed: "Max Spicker-From his grateful Arion." Among other songs to be sung to-day by the Arion are: "Bundesled." by Lachner, "Hymne," by Van der Stucken, with the accompaniment of the orchestra, and a capella, "Mutter," by Van der Stucken, "Abendefeier," by Attenhofer, and "Spielmannsiled," by Spicker.

It was understood that the banker was endeavoring to settle with his creditors. Arion on its tour of Europe two years ago, and

LONG ISLAND.

SOUTHAMPTON.-St. Andrew's Episcopal Church at Southampton was crowded with summer residents yesterday morning at the funeral of little Fannie G. Russell, the ten-year-old daughter of the late S. Howland Russell, of New-York. The child was accidentally killed by a window sash falling upon her neck. After the services the body was taken to Newport for burial.

BABYLON.—Henry B. Hyde, President of the Equitable Life Insurance Company in New-York, who has a summer residence at Babylon, has offered a liberal reward for information that will lead to the arrest and conviction of the burglars who have been robbing summer residences in this village and its vicinity recently.

WILLIAM MILES, A WEALTHY OCTOGENARIAN, ACCUSED OF PERJURY BY HIS NEPHEW.

The Grand Jury has for two days been considerng a charge of perjury made by William Samuel Hurley against his uncle, William Miles, and will complained of go back thirty years and have already been the subject of a civil suit.

Mr. Miles is a wealthy man and is eighty-three David's Society, and has been director in various corporations. He and Hurley's father, Samuel Hurwere partners in the tanning business. When the elder Hurley died in 1863, Miles and his brother were made executors of his will. Mrs. Hurley received $13,000 from them as the proceeds of her hus band's interest in the business. Her son now declares that his uncle retained possession of a large amount of property belonging to his father. One gave up $20,000 for this. Hurley says he learned later that Miles had possession of 4,000 lots in Cypress Hills Cemetery belonging to the Hurley estate. The uncle offered to settle the whole affair for $40,000, but Hurley instead sued him for $350,000. The action was brought in the Supreme Court in 1832, and was tried before Justice Barrett, Ex-Surrogate Daniel G. Rollins was counsel for Hurley and his mother

Rollins was counsel for Hurley and his mother and sisters, while ex-Judge Noah Davis and Austen G. Fox were attorneys for Miles.

Miles had an agreement whereby the elder Hurley transferred to him and his brother all his property for $13,000. The Hurleys declared that this document, together with the will, was a forgery. Three experts in handwriting, David N. Carvalho, Daniel T. Ames and William E. Hagan, testified that in their judgment the signature to the agreement was a forgery. Before the suit was finished Mr. Rollins announced that the trouble had been settled; that the charges of forgery were withdrawn, and that the action had been discontinued.

There has probably been a disagreement over the carrying out of the compromise that was made, and Hurley has, therefore, brought the criminal charge. He and Mr. Carvalho were witnesses before the Grand Jury.

Miles lives in Brooklyn, but is said to be at a Massachusetts summer resort.

REAUTIFUL GOWNS FOR THE AUTUMN.

B. Altman & Co. will show to-morrow, at their store, No. 301 Sixth-ave., their autumn advance styles of imported garments and dress goods. Silkstriped gauffre will be shown in garnet, blue, brown, purple, green and black. In all these goods the stripe is black, and garments made from the material are exceedingly fashionable. Another ma-terial which will doubtless become popular is the Astrachan bouclé, which, together with the fancy check pontille, is shown in various subdued shades Zerbeline cameishair in many shades and crinkled crépons in solid colors show to good advantage, while a large line of bouclé plaids are handsome enough to sell themselves. Though the rough effects will lead in popularity, Scotch and English suitings will be worn as well as mohairs in light

All these povelties range in price from $2.25 to $4.75 a yard, though goods of the same style lower in grade and cheaper are also carried in stock.

in grade and cheaper are also carried in stock. The imported garments will prove fully as interesting. It would be impossible to describe all, but a few are worthy of more than passing notice. A street costume of figured camelishair, dark in color, but relieved with a mixture of cerise, has a graceful, plain, but elegant skirt. The bodice is made of tan suede. The collar is of cerise mirror velvet, and has two full box-plaited roseties on either side. All collars are made more elaborate than ever before.

The sleeves of this garment are large and the fulness is laid in tucks for several inches from the shoulders, giving the sleeve a sloping effect. The suede waist and elaborate beaded embroidery are the features of this costume.

A street costume in silver gray and black is striking, beautiful. The skirt is of black cloth, with insertions of lace over silver gray, and the bottom of the skirt is finished with a band of exquisite chinchila fur. The body has a yoke of silver gray atin outlined top and bottom with fur. A feature of this costume is the yoke, which forms deep points over the shoulders. The lower part of the body is of cloth, with bias insertions of lace over silver to correspond with the skirt.

A reception costume of cerise moiré antique with body of maize satin is also a notable work of the dressmaker's art.

Hugh Shields, a laborer, of the steamboat Meta, of the Nev-Brunswick line, had a narrow escape from serious injury last night. He was passing up West-st. at 6:40 o'clock, when a rough-looking, burly fellow, rushed at him and seized him by the throat, at the same time giving him a murderous blow on the left eye.

"Give me your money," said the highwayman, "or Fil kili you."

Fearing he would be killed, Shields made little resistance, and the thief searched him and took his pocketbook. Fortunately, Detective Devery was in the vicinity, and seeing the crowd which had gathered, and the thefe searched him and took his pocketbook. FOR THE FUNERAL OF W. D. DAY.

TO BE HELD AT BAYONNE THIS AFTERNOON-A BELIEF THAT HE WAS DRIVEN TO SUI-CIDE BY A PALSE ACCUSATION.

The feeling among the large circle of friends of Willie D. Day, the champion runner, is that he was driven to suicide by his being faisely accused of theft. Much sympathy is expressed for the young athlete's aged parents, who are nearly prostrated was made in about two hours by the fifty turnouts. At night the hotel and grounds were brilliantly fluminated, and the ball which closed the festivities was the most successful in the history of the place. Arverne Day was a great success all through, and reflects credit on W. Johnson Quinn, of the Arverne, who did much to make it so. Day's schoolmate and who took up his case as old parents. Willie Day was a manly and sensitive fellow, and loved his parents. There had not been Preparations for the last ball of the season at the a stain on the family until his arrest on the false charge, and the disgrace which he imagined his arrest had brought on his parents undoubtedly caused him to end his life. Many friends of the dead athlete called yesterday to view the body at Willie Day's parents' home, No. 28 Linden-ave. Bayonne. The funeral will take place there to-day, at 10-clock. The Rev. W. T. McGoire, assistant rector of Trinity Episcopal Church in Bayonne, will conduct the service. The parents of the dead athlete have requested that the funeral be conducted in a manner as private as possible.

It is expected that the New-Jersey Athletic Club, of which Day was a member, will take action on his death. Most of Willie Day's relatives will, it is expected, be present at the funeral, including Mrs. Alien H. Harris, who was at one time an expert lawn tenuts player, and now a resident of Philadelphia, and his brothers, Newton H., Thomas B., Jr., J. Ingereoll and Frank H., of this city.

M. A. Storey, the manager of the Manhattan Laundry Company, of Jersey City, in whose employ Willie Day acted as collector, as already announced, has made a full retraction of the charges brought against young Day. Storey says that the arrest of Day on so serious a charge was all a mistake, which his company now regrets much.
